Undergraduate Academic Standing Policies for implications of the COVID-19 pandemic
Spring 2020

To provide a positive outcome for all students we are creating a policy to hold students harmless from the challenges associated with moving to remote/online education in the middle of the term and also to hold students harmless from any unintended consequences of selecting S/U grading, should they choose that option before June 5th.

We will apply the already established “can only help you” academic standing rules pertaining to undergraduate students that are already employed during summer terms The Office of the Registrar will run academic standing, right after the grading deadline, with rules that are already implemented each summer.

Students on probation that raise their grades to a cumulative 2.0 GPA at the end of Spring 2020 will be changed from probationary status to good standing.

Students in good standing who earn grades that drop their cumulative GPA below a 2.0 at the end of Spring 2020 will remain in good standing.

Students on probation who earn grades at the end of Spring 2020 that result in less than a 2.0 GPA will continue with their current academic standing (P1 or P2) for Summer 2020 and Fall 2020. Consequently students will not progress in probation/dismissal status (P1→P2→DA).

Students who had appealed their dismissed academic standing at the end of Fall 2019 and were overridden to have one more term in Spring 2020, but who still do not recover to good standing in Spring 2020, will obtain an automatic additional one-semester extension of the original appeal.
